

CITY OF DARWIN: A GRASSROOTS COUNCIL

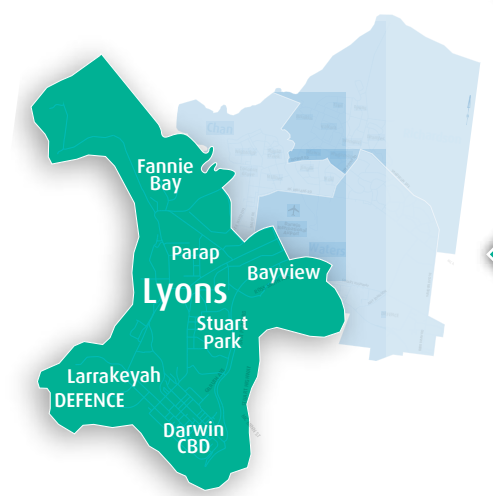

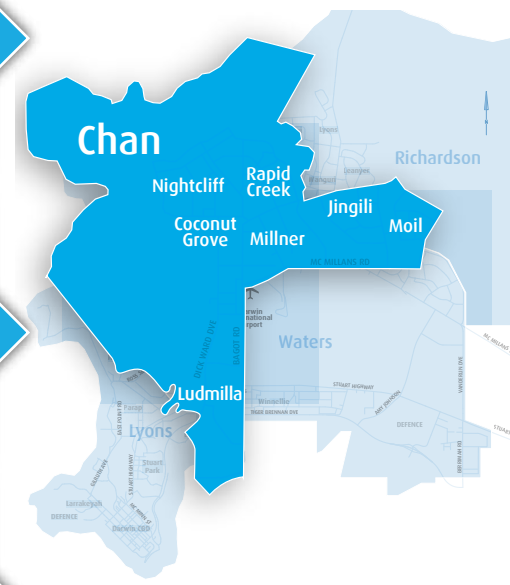

ROBIN KNOX
Robin will continue to work hard for you to improve Darwin. Issues she is pursuing include developing Bagot Park carpark, improving parking times at local shops, creating more shade to cool streets, implementing stronger animal management actions and improving the city centre. Request a tree on your verge. Fill in the form at the Council website.

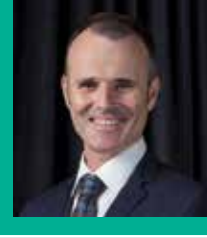

PETER PANGQUEE
I am from a well-known Darwin Aboriginal family and grew up in Nightcliff. I wanted to be on Council to help Darwin become a safer, greener and more progressive city by having a strong consultative council that will work with and for the people of Darwin. I have a background in health, community development and other social services.

EMMA YOUNG
My five point plan for a sustainable, liveable and diverse Darwin: 1 Financial accountability - making sure Council dollars are spent wisely. 2 More family friendly infrastructure in the suburbs. 3 More shade and more trees. 4 Better coordination between Council and NT Government departments. 5 Sensible decision-making about where Council services are located.

SHERRY CULLEN
People, place and prosperity are the drivers that motivate me to make a difference. I am focusing on legacy decisions that have a positive outcome on how we interact with our built environment. I want to beautify the city and ward off the heat with urban greenery.

SIMON NIBLOCK
Simon Niblock has lived in Darwin for over 14 years and has a background in book publishing and IT. He is married and has two school-aged children. In his second term he will continue to push for more investment in renewable energy, better waste management, and greater transparency and engagement with the community.

MICK PALMER
Began school at St Marys in Darwin 1958. Commonwealth and NT public service 1970-1983. Member for Leanyer and latterly Member for Karama, NT legislative Assembly 1983-2001. Parliamentary appointments include Minister for Primary Industry and Fisheries, Infrastructure, Housing and Local Government and Corrections.

JIMMY BOUHORIS
What's important to the average Richardson Ward constituent is "proof of reason" to jack up rates, safety in the suburbs, animal management areas to exercise dogs and general maintenance. The app Click and Fix is an excellent platform and I understand working well for those who realise it's available. The standard you walk past is the standard you accept. Let's work together.

GEORGE LAMBRINIDIS
Born and raised in Darwin, I continue to live and work in the Richardson Ward. My aim is to improve our suburbs by providing facilities and programs for young and old. I have begun lobbying for upgrades to Casuarina pool, Bradshaw Terrace and Wagaman Supermarket, and for more spaces for community engagement, such as community halls.

REBECCA WANT DE ROWE
I'm excited to be elected for my second term and am committed to continuing the regular contact with members in my community through community events, shopping centre stalls and my newsletter. I encourage everyone to please get hold of me should they have any questions or to provide feedback on council decisions.

ANDREW ARTHUR
We need an open and transparent council, which consults with regular open forums to develop community-driven policy. I will strive for a sustainable, green, tropical city with a modern public transport system. Free parking is the first step towards revitalisation. I don't support BB in its current form.

JUSTINE GLOVER
Council is about grassroots issues. I am your voice on council and keen to hear what people have to say. An alderman is a representative of the people to ensure Council does the right thing in the right way. It's not just roads, rates and rubbish. It is mostly about relationships and listening to the community to get it right.

GARY HASLETT
Born in Adelaide, Gary moved to Darwin in 1966 and is a media lecturer with a TV broadcasting background. He attended school and university in Darwin. With over five years service on Council and a member of many boards and community groups, Gary has a strong community focus.

FROM THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Brendan Dowd, City of Darwin Chief Executive describes the social, cultural and economic heart of the Northern Territory, the only capital city located north of the Tropic of Capricorn - the Capital of Northern Australia. City of Darwin is the unique tropical home of more than 84,000 people, living in 31 suburbs over 112 square kilometres across the municipality.

"We are the closest to the community, as the first tier of government. Being innovative and agile in the current climate to fuel our economy has meant new opportunities for City of Darwin with the Territory and Federal governments to leverage off their willingness to invest in our capital city through initiatives such as Smart Cities and the development of a Darwin City Deal."
